

Big Energy Saving Week

From 17th to 23rd January, the UK celebrated Big Energy Saving Week. Rosedale College made a significant contribution during the week, as well as using it as an opportunity to highlight their passion for the environment. The students of the Eco Club organised a Year 7 challenge in which all the students in that year group collected points daily to determine which class was the most environmentally friendly. At the end of the week, Class 7P earned the highest number of points and was recognised as the class that saved the most energy. They received a certificate and a goody bag, which was presented to their form tutor. Our students continue to make great strides in their environmental awareness.

Year 11 GCSE Epping Forest Trip

On 13th January, our Year 11 Geography students visited Loughton in Essex to investigate river features as part of their preparation for the GCSE examinations. The students engaged in hands-on learning about how rivers impact the landscape, particularly concerning flooding.

The day began with an introduction to various river features, including confluences, tributaries, meanders, and flood risks. Students participated in activities such as measuring channel depth, channel width, and velocity, as well as assessing flood risks. Working collaboratively, they collected data and recorded their findings in a table.

Additionally, students were tasked with using their judgment to calculate the flood risk of a specific area based on various factors. Overall, the field trip was both practical and informative, allowing students to learn while effectively preparing for their GCSEs
