

Royal College of Music

On Tuesday 25th March 2025, the Key Stage 4 Music option students from both Rosedale College and Hewens College went on an educational trip to the Royal College of Music on Prince Consort Road. The students were excited about the trip from the very conception and so they arrived at college early and eager to make the journey. The journey was fun and filled with excitement as the students got to see different landmarks as they travelled.

When we arrived at the Royal College of Music, the first order of the day was the guided tour of the museum. Our students saw many authentic antique instruments dating back to the early Baroque period. They were given the opportunity to play music on the music box as well as a quick chordal run on the harpsicord.

After the tour, the students were treated to an hour of live musical performances from students at the college. They heard classical pieces from string quartets, jazz pieces from the brass set and also romantic pieces from a wind duo.

Our students were able to make the connection to what they were learning and what they witnessed on the trip.
